

Oral Oncology Medication Tools

Resources for health care providers, patients, and caregivers to support through the treatment journey

The oral oncology treatment patient journey may be different than that of other forms of oncology treatment. During treatment with oral oncology medications, health care providers, patients, and their caregivers may benefit from educational and support resources specific to navigating care with oral oncology medications.

Novartis has developed the following oral oncology medication tools to support health care providers, patients, and their caregivers throughout the care continuum; from origination to diagnosis, to treatment initiation and monitoring.
